Profile

A passionate designer with an artist's soul and a developer's precision. My journey started with brushes and sketchbooks and grew into code, pixels, and carefully crafted visuals. With a degree in Art Education and a good time of frontend development behind me, I see design as a beautiful balance between logic and emotion.

I don't just make things look good—I pour meaning into every stroke, every layout, every detail. Whether it's branding a love-filled handmade project or shaping an interface that feels just right, I approach each piece with intention, curiosity, and a genuine obsession for detail.
